

Quiz Results for: "Git Basics"

Date: 2026-03-28,

Score: 92%

Correct answers: 23 Wrong answers: 2 Missing answers: 0

1/25 Who is attributed with developing Git?

Junio C. Hamano

☒ Linus Torvalds

James Gosling

Kohsuke Kawaguchi

See Explanation

2/25 When should you use a single dash within a Git command, as opposed to a double dash?

When using a multi-character option

When referencing a git alias

When issuing git commands with multiple options

☒ When using a single-character option

See Explanation

3/25 How do you create a copy of a lab under your own GitHub account so that you can solve the lab?

☒ Forking it via the GitHub interface.

git fork

git clone

git pull-request

See Explanation

4/25

Which command is the opposite of git clone, that uploads your changes and code back to GitHub instead of downloading your code from GitHub?

☒ git push git upload git add

git status

See Explanation

5/25

Which command is run to check the state of your local git repository since your last commit?

git check

☒ git status

git commit

git diff

See Explanation

6/25

How should you stage files for a commit?

git stage

git commit

☒ git add

git reset

See Explanation

7/25 What is a shortcut to staging all the changes you have?

git commit add .

☒ git add .

git commit .

git push -am "Message"

See Explanation

8/25 Which option is used to stash your untracked files?

git stash -a

☒ git stash -u git stash -q

git stash -k

See Explanation

9/25 What are Git hooks?

Git server configurations

☒ Scripts that run automatically before or after certain Git commands

Merge conflict resolution tools

Code formatting scripts

Git branch policies

See Explanation

10/25 What are Git tags primarily used for?

☒ Marking specific points in repository history as important

Tracking issues

Creating new branches

Stashing changes

Merging branches

See Explanation

11/25 What is the purpose of the 'git remote' command?

To clone a remote repository

☒ To manage the set of repositories ('remotes') whose branches you track

To fetch updates from the remote repository

To track changes in remote branches

To push changes to the remote server

See Explanation

12/25 What is 'git diff' used for?

To display the current state of the repository

To list repository files

☐ To show the difference in remote repositories

To merge changes

☒ To show the changes between commits, commit and working tree, etc.

See Explanation

13/25 How does the '.gitignore' file work?

Automatically deletes specified files

Lists all ignored files

Merges specified files

Tracks specified files

☒ Specifies intentionally untracked files to ignore

See Explanation

14/25 What is the purpose of the 'git show' command?

Deletes a commit

Shows the current branch

Merges branches

Initializes a new repository

☒ Shows various types of objects

See Explanation

15/25 What does 'git add -i' enable?

Ignores files for tracking

Initializes a new repository

Adds a remote repository

Archives repository files

☒ Interactive staging mode

See Explanation

16/25 What is 'git reflog' used for?

☒ To manage a log of where your HEAD and branch references have been

To display the remote repository logs

To clear the commit history

To show the commit logs

To log out of the current Git session

See Explanation

17/25 What is Git LFS (Large File Storage) used for?

For storing configuration files

For archiving the repository

☒ For handling large files in a Git repository

For cloning large repositories

For merging large branches

See Explanation

18/25 What does 'git reset --hard' do?

Creates a backup of the current state

Merges the current branch with the master branch

☒ Resets the working directory and index to the last commit, discarding all changes

Resets only the index but not the working directory

Resets only the working directory but not the index

See Explanation

19/25 What is a best practice for collaborating with others in Git?

Avoid using tags for versioning

Commit changes directly to the master branch

Use a single branch for all developments

Never merge branches

☒ Regularly pull changes from the remote repository to stay updated

See Explanation

20/25 What does 'git clone' do?

Merges two repositories

Creates a new branch

Updates an existing repository

Deletes a repository

☒ Creates a copy of an existing Git repository into a new directory

See Explanation

21/25 How do you change the URL of a remote repository in Git?

It cannot be changed once set

☒ Using the 'git remote set-url' command

Using the 'git config set-remote' command

Modifying the .git/config file

Using the 'git remote change-url' command

See Explanation

22/25 What limitation does Git LFS address?

Automating Git workflows

Managing remote repositories

☒ Improving the speed of Git operations

Securing sensitive files in the repository

☒ Handling large files that are difficult to manage with regular Git

See Explanation

23/25 What does 'git commit --amend' do?

Splits the last commit into multiple commits

Deletes the last commit

Reverts the last commit

Creates a new commit as a copy of the last one

☒ Modifies the most recent commit

See Explanation

24/25 How do you check the name of the current branch in Git?

Using the 'git status' command

☒ Using the 'git branch' command

Checking the .git/HEAD file

Using the 'git current-branch' command

It is not possible to check

See Explanation

25/25 What is the effect of the 'git merge --no-ff' command?

Disables the merge operation

Forces a fast-forward merge

☒ Creates a merge commit even if a fast-forward merge is possible

Rebases instead of merging

Merges without checking for conflicts

See Explanation

Relative quizzes

- SQL Basics

Discover more

Programming

Web Design & Development

Java (Programming Language)

Discover more

Development Tools

Scripting Languages

Programming
